

Guide to Soil by Texture

Texture class is one of the most important characteristics of a soil.
Texture class can be determined in the field by the method described below.

